Introduction and Resources

The first edition of this curriculum resource, Mental Health and Wellness for Catholic Schools: Feelings, Emotions, Resilience and Dignity of the Whole Person (2013) came to fruition when Renfrew County Catholic District School Board Principal Clint Young discovered resources that provide a reactive approach to mental illness, but very few that address mental health and wellness proactively in the classroom. The Eastern Ontario Catholic Curriculum Corporation agreed to help develop curriculum resources that promote mental health and well-being through classroom discussions and activities. The result was EOCCC's 2013 publication of Mental Health and Wellness for Catholic Schools: Feelings, Emotions, Resilience and Dignity of the Whole Person, which includes lessons for grades 2, 5, & 7.

Given the positive reception of that resource, EOCCC Catholic member Boards suggested that the document be enhanced to include lessons for all grades, from Kindergarten through 8. Writers and contributors from all four Catholic school boards in Eastern Ontario collaborated and decided to add an additional subject - belonging - and to rename the document accordingly: Mental Health & Wellness for Catholic Schools: Emotions, Resiliency, Belonging & Dignity of the Whole Person. It was further determined that the new material would be comprised of five lessons for each grade (Kindergarten, 1, 3, 4, 6, & 8), including one for each area of focus (Emotions, Resiliency, Belonging, Dignity of the Whole Person), as well as a cumulative activity/celebration for each. The lessons are intended to be used as proactive, resilience-building material for entire classes and the themes of each lesson are evidence-informed. In this way, it is hoped that teachers will find, or create, the time and opportunity for the lessons to happen in their classes, as these are such important topics to be explored with our children and youth.

The connection to Catholic Faith was a natural and effortless process for the team. As Bruce Rodrigues, former Deputy Minister of Education, has noted about Catholic Education: "We are called to remember. Jesus said, 'Do this in remembrance of me'. With students, the task is to help students identify, name, and remember their God experiences." (paraphrased, Rodrigues, 2018).

Recognizing that the mental and physical well-being of our adult educators is as important as that of our students, while acknowledging that professionals may feel that they need further information about mental health conditions, we have included a section of resources in this document. It is hoped that these will be helpful when we encounter challenges with our own mental wellness, as well as regarding that of our students. It is important that educators remember they can reach out to the supports in our buildings and school board, as well as our local community.

In addition, the Ontario Ministry of Education released Supporting Minds: An Educator's Guide to Promoting Students' Mental Health and Well-being, a comprehensive document that provides information about various mental health concerns, as well as classroom strategies to support student mental health. We are reminded, "While educators cannot and should not attempt to diagnose mental health problems, they have an important role in:

- promoting positive mental health at school;
- identifying students who may have mental health problems; and
- connecting those students with appropriate services." (Supporting Minds, 2013, P. 6)

We also offer a cautious reminder that most educators are not medical professionals; therefore, we are not in a position to be the sole supporters of our students. Additionally, we are not qualified, nor required, to educate our students about the intricacies of specific mental illnesses or conditions.

Getting Help

Educators often wonder what services for students they may be able to look for in their own community. A comprehensive list for each individual community can be found by calling 211 or visiting www.211ontario.ca online. The Ontario 211 - Community and Social Services Help Line can direct you to nearby child mental health agencies, adult mental health agencies, and other important programs.

Kids Help Phone

Remember that there are always qualified professionals that can support our students. Ensure that you follow your school protocol for any emergency situations. In the event that you are looking for a resource to give to a student in that moment, consider the Kids Help Phone as a universal way, all over the country, to connect students with a supportive qualified individual.

What more can teachers do to support student mental health?

The Ontario Ministry of Education has provided evidence-based information on how to support student mental health. The School Mental Health-Assist website (<https://smh-assist.ca/>) states, “Children and youth in Ontario spend a good portion of every day in school, ten months of the year, from as early as age three. This setting offers tremendous opportunity each day to help students to learn and practice social-emotional skills and mentally healthy habits within welcoming, caring, and inclusive settings.”

The Aligned and Integration Model (above, from <https://smh-assist.ca/>) illustrates the recommended, multi-tiered continuum of support by school professionals, including promotion, prevention, and intervention. The lessons in this EOCCC resource include many of the Tier 1 strategies, as they are considered to be critical competencies which are ‘good for all.’ Educators are encouraged to use them in their classes daily, in order to improve student mental health. In the words of Dr. Jean Clinton, “Whose eyes light up when that child enters the room?” (special advisor to the Ministry of Education, August, 2018).

Reducing your own stress: Leakage and Limbic Resonance

Having one's own resilience and ways of reducing stress is an essential for all; teachers included. Jesus tells us, "Peace I leave with you; my peace I give to you. Do not let your hearts be troubled, and do not let them be afraid." (John 14:27, New International Version Bible). Although we all know feeling peace and calm is important, there is a specific neurological reason that it is crucial for the adults in children's lives to have resilience, an awareness of their emotions, and to be able to self-regulate. Specifically, Dr. Stuart Shanker coined the term 'leakage' to explain the effect of limbic resonance. Limbic resonance is the ability of one individual to sense how others are feeling. Our interbrain does this work through monitoring tone, cadence, and micro expressions in others in order to detect threats. Leakage is relevant because students can sense how adults are genuinely feeling about them and these leaked emotions, or stress responses, in turn impact students and their perception of safety and belonging. Due to mirror neurons in our brains, children not only feel the stress of others, but actually respond to stress responses in others - especially adults - as if it were their own stress response. Therefore, if there is a stressed adult (even well hidden) students can perceive it and begin to exhibit stress responses themselves. What follows is a list of evidence-based strategies that support adult mental health. It is essential that we, in addition to simply thinking through the mental health of students, also reflect on what we bring with us every day, and how we take care of those around us and ourselves. Reverencing the dignity of the whole person refers not only to our students, but to ourselves as well.

Taking care of you IS taking care of the students in your classroom. Reverencing the dignity of each student, as made in the image and likeness of God, IS ALSO remembering that you are asked to reverence yourself in that same way, with that same level of compassion. Calm begets calm; without calm, you cannot help anyone else obtain it (paraphrased, Stuart Shanker, 2018). The best thing we can do for our students is to create belonging and relationship for them, and for ourselves.

- Faith reminds us that we are never alone in our struggles. It roots us in relationship – with God and with neighbour, who is made in God's image; it is expressed in prayer and worship, and in love. Anchored in this relational way of being, we can respond to life's stresses and conflicts with greater peace and inner security, backed by the reassuring presence and unconditional love of God, who accompanies us in all things (adapted from Tony Cosentino).

- Be a lifelong learner Learning, reading, and planning for a specific behaviour or challenge helps one feel in control and reminds us that, although a solution hasn't been found yet, there are many different strategies, and something will work. One of the most supportive strategies for our own mental wellness is finding a way to give oneself control over whatever circumstance is causing stress, rather than feeling helpless.
- Take a break Make sure to take time for yourself during the day to listen to music, take a few deep breaths, meditate, write in a gratitude journal, do a few stretches, take a brisk walk, or do any other activity that helps you feel restored. Try to incorporate these rejuvenating breaks into every day in order to restore your energy reserves.
- Make time to meet with colleagues In addition to professional discussion and debriefing, create opportunities to build community, to ensure newer teachers feel like they belong at the school, to share evidence-informed practices, and to build one another up. This is also a great way to problem-solve and collaborate. Consider connecting with other classes as learning buddies (reading, math, etc.), to walk and sit together for Mass, and any other activities that build community and excitement.
- Shift your perspective When you feel yourself becoming stressed in the classroom, use solution-focused thinking. This means actively and positively focusing on what solutions may work. What has already been tried? What has not been tried yet? Try to reframe the frustrating situation as a challenge, or an interesting puzzle to be solved. Dr. Stuart Shanker would suggest that it is important to ask ourselves, 'Why?' and 'Why Now?' when thinking about children who struggle on a regular basis. Children are expected to push limits. Having compassionate, strong boundaries in place helps students feel safe.
- Use the Serenity Prayer to help keep a positive attitude Our worries and stresses can always be given to God. Realize that you cannot control everything that happens in your classroom, but you can react to situations proactively.
- Find a mentor or buddy-teacher No one can go it alone. Acquire great strategies and suggestions from others to try with your class. Consider teaching together with learning buddies. Take time to talk about problems and support each other, always focusing on possible solutions, rather than rehashing the problem.
- Think of your home and family life as sacred space According to Bruce Rodrigues (former Deputy Minister of Education for Ontario, paraphrased, 2018), God has given us the gift of our family and friends, while also gifting us TO our family and friends, yet the 21st century has changed technology, families, and work-home responsibility. In what ways can you create structures to limit working while at home, ensuring that the gift and the responsibility of family and friends is at the forefront when you walk through the door into your home, which is a sacred space?

Christian Meditation Christian meditation has been infused in this resource for students. It is a practice that has exceptional benefits for adults also. (The following information has been adapted from Christian Meditation with Children: Rediscovering Our Contemplative Roots)

The experience of Christian Meditation, as a form of contemplative prayer, teaches us:

- We are precious in God's eyes;
- God has a personal relationship with me;
- God is sustaining me at each moment with infinite love;
- I matter to God - God is present to me always;
- There is a center within me where I can find peace and joy;
- I can carry this peace and joy with me and into my relationships everywhere.

Meditation can improve problem-solving and decision-making skills, while reducing stress and increasing a sense of wellbeing and harmony. Research by Dr. Shanida Nataraja shows that meditation is not only helpful for reducing stress but may actually be crucial for good health and optimal brain functioning. For example:

- ✓ The frontal cortex of the brain contains the circuitry responsible for screening incoming information for relevant thoughts and images. This becomes especially significant during meditation.
- ✓ By giving the mind a single focus, meditation uses innate neural circuitry to filter out external noises and internal thoughts.
- ✓ Meditation has been shown to decrease cortisol levels. Cortisol is a hormone released during periods of stress, so a decrease in cortisol levels reflects a decrease in a person's stress.

Take a moment to practice peaceful Christian Meditation:

Jesus tells us, "Peace I leave with you; my peace I give to you. Do not let your hearts be troubled, and do not let them be afraid." (John 14:27, New International Version Bible)

Take deep breaths in and out. Sit with your back straight. Close your eyes lightly. Silently, in your heart, repeat Maranatha: [Come, Lord Jesus]. Say it calmly and slowly, as four separate syllables: "Ma-ra-na-tha". Repeat it over and over in your mind (for 30 seconds to 1 minute). If you find your thoughts wandering, simply acknowledge it and refocus yourself back to repeating the word "Ma-ra-na-tha."

Say this phrase again and again, and welcome Christ's peace into your heart.

* * *

Lord,
Thank you for the gift of peace that You have poured into my heart. May this gift overflow in everything I do. May your peace be used to build up and support. We ask you this through Christ, our Lord.

We thank you, Lord, for the gifts of Faith, Hope and Love You have poured out on us in Christ. May we use these gifts to build up our school community, to be everything that you call us to be. We make this prayer to you in the name of Jesus, the Lord. And may Almighty God bless us: Father, Son, and the Holy Spirit.

Grade: Kindergarten Lesson 1
Emotions

Background: Children need to understand their own feelings and emotions in order to self-regulate.

Through the teaching of The Zones of Regulation, there are four zones of self-regulation: BLUE means slow, GREEN means go, YELLOW means caution, and RED means stop. The goal is to help students to understand when they are in their calm, happy (GREEN) zone, so they can work towards being in that zone all the time. When they start to feel frustrated, sad, silly or nervous, they are in the YELLOW zone. If the child is really upset or angry, to the point that they might hurt someone or themselves, either by words or actions, they are in the RED zone. By referring to The Zones of Regulation on a regular basis, students will build an understanding of what they are feeling.

Minds On (Envision)

Approximately 5 Minutes

Monitoring Progress (Discern)

Look Fors:

What might it look like?
What might it sound like?
What might it feel like?

Start by discussing feelings, emotions, and moods. Ask the students to share experiences of emotions or feelings: happy, sad, angry or silly. Explain that you are going to read a book about a girl who experiences many different feelings, emotions and moods.

*If you have not already taught the zones, you need to incorporate that into this first lesson, as each lesson relies on The Zones of Regulation. To teach this, start the same way as mentioned above, by discussing feelings, emotions, and moods. Then read them the story about the young girl, with all of her many emotions and feelings. Discuss each feeling as you go through the book, and label the Zone of Regulation that each mood fits in. When you are finished reading the story, hand out pictures of faces with different expressions, showing different moods. Ask the children to take turns putting the picture on the colour of Zone that it fits and elaborate on why each one is a specific colour. (i.e. A bored expression goes on the Blue Zone, because you are not calm and

happy. A facial expression that looks really excited might go on the Yellow Zone, because even though they are happy, they are not calm and in control.)
Action (Sow) Approximately 15 Minutes
Read, The Way I Feel, by Janan Cain or Today I Feel Silly by Jamie Lee Curtis. Discuss the different moods teachers might feel and when they feel them. Then have the students turn and talk to a partner about a different mood that they have experienced and when they experienced it. It is important to feel these emotions. It's how they deal with feelings, emotions, and moods that is most important. Remind the students that it is never okay to hurt someone with our words or our actions. Ask students what are good strategies if their feelings, emotions, or moods are not acceptable (find a quiet spot to reflect and rethink). They can try to get themselves back to the Green Zone without anyone bothering them, and by removing themselves from the situation or person who upset them. Also, it's important to remind the students that if they choose to go to a quiet spot, they must let an adult know where they will be because adults worry when children can't be found.
Consolidation (Nurture) Approximately 30 Minutes
Ask students to draw a picture of how they feel. (BLM 1) When they are done drawing how they feel at that moment, they will write a sentence on the lines below, "I am in the _____ zone." This will help them relate to the zones in their daily lives. When students are done, have them come back to the carpet. Teach students the song "Yes, Lord" (also known as "Trade My Sorrows"). https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=fdPvvfer-pk There are many versions on the internet. This particular version may be more meaningful for students, as there are hand movements to make an "L" for Lord, (i.e. Thumbs up for "yes", and then thumbs turn into an "L" for Lord). Remind students that Jesus is always there for us when we are happy, sad or angry. He is always ready to listen and help. If you have a copy of Hannah Beach's book series of "I Can Dance", a great resource to have, you can have students dance their feelings with her CD from the collection. Later in the day, or when you get a chance to get to the gym, you can use Hannah Beach's

CD titled, “I Can Dance My Feelings”. This is a great way to reinforce what they have learned. Before you go to the gym, read the book and explain that they need to listen to her directions in order to know what movements to make. It is a great resource as it frees the child from feeling they need to know how to dance. She is very clear that everyone moves in different ways, and how you decide to move is perfect.

<https://hannahbeach.ca/books/>

At the end of the day, send home a copy of the Parent Letter (BLM 2) with every child. This explains the Zones of Regulation to parents and allows them to use the strategies at home as well.

Notes:

This lesson may take two or three days/lessons to complete. You may choose to read the first book on one day, then continue with the rest of the lesson the next day.

Another suitable song for this lesson would be “If You’re Happy”

Mental Health & Wellness for Catholic Schools: Emotions, Resiliency, Belonging, & Dignity of the Whole Person

Dear Parents and Guardians,

Today we discussed the Zones of Regulation program with our Kinders. This program highlights the value of social emotional development through wellness, peaceful, and discipleship strategies that are age appropriate. We read a story by Jamie Lee Curtis, entitled “Today I Feel Silly and Other Moods That Make My Day”, and we discussed the four colours of the Zones of Regulation. In order that you might help your child better understand this concept and reinforce it at home, we thought we’d explain how it works.

There are four zones of self-regulation: BLUE means slow, GREEN means go, Yellow means caution, and RED means stop. We are teaching our children to recognize when they are in their calm, happy (GREEN) zone, so they can work towards being in that zone the majority of time. When they start to feel frustrated, sad, silly or nervous, they are considered to be in the YELLOW zone. If your child is really upset or angry - to the point that they might hurt someone or themselves, either by words or actions - they are in the RED zone. We are trying to help your child understand their feelings, so they can avoid reaching the RED zone, and get themselves back to the GREEN zone. By being in the GREEN zone, they are calm, focused, happy and ready to learn and interact with their peers. The BLUE zone is when they are sad, tired, or unmotivated and therefore not ready to learn or interact.

Together, let’s teach our children to understand their feelings, emotions, and moods in order that they may work productively and interact calmly with their peers while being in the GREEN zone.

Thank you for your help in this endeavour!

Sincerely,

The ZONES of Regulation®

BLUE ZONE	GREEN ZONE	YELLOW ZONE	RED ZONE

BLUE ZONE Sad Sick Tired Bored Moving Slowly	GREEN ZONE Happy Calm Feeling Okay Focused Ready to Learn	YELLOW ZONE Frustrated Worried Silly/Wiggly Excited Loss of Some Control	RED ZONE Mad/Angry Mean Terrified Yelling/Hitting Out of Control

Grade Kindergarten Lesson 2 Building Resiliency in our Young Learners

Background: Teaching our young learners how to be resilient, and “bounce back” when problems occur, or situations don’t turn out how they feel they should, is important to every child’s growth and overall well-being. Fostering a connection to nature supports mental wellness. Positive thinking, grit and growth mindset are skills that we can all give children. When children can remember that hard work and effort are more important than getting all the right answers, they can enjoy the learning journey and reach their full academic potential.

In the name of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit...

God, sometimes I don't feel like talking about what's wrong. I just want to be mad or sad or frustrated. I would rather sit by myself. Sometimes, things feel too big for me to figure out. Sometimes, life seems really unfair. I need Your help, God. You are the only One who sees everything and knows everything. You are the only One who knows everything about me. Can You help me to trust You, today? Please teach me how to take what I feel and give it to You to sort out. In Jesus' Name, Amen.

Ask students how they feel when someone says something hurtful or wrecks something that matters to them. Discuss with the students what they do when they feel hurt, sad or mad. Do they hide somewhere, hit someone or something, or something else? Wonder together about healthy ways to deal with and express anger.

Read the book If You're Angry and You Know It by Cecily Kaiser. Discuss some of the strategies the little boy used, and how they helped him.

Body Break: Have students practice the song "If You're Angry and You Know It" at the carpet, using various strategies they could put in their "Toolbox" at the end of the unit. (Students will be filling a

toolbox at the end of the unit. Have them start thinking about the Toolbox now and what they might want to include when it's time. See Culminating Activity.) A great video which teaches sign language for the emotions excited, frustrated, and angry (using the If You're Happy and You Know It song) is available at the following link: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=HjNFOA8_qKQ (The song starts at 3:26) A song which includes more emotions (I.e. happy, angry, scared, and sleepy) is available here: Super Simple Songs https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=l4WNRvVjiTw. It is more of a sing along which could be watched or just listened to. (Be careful with this video, as there are others on YouTube which look similar, but aren't the same.)
Action (Sow) Approximately 15 Minutes
Before reading the book, When Sophie's Feelings Are Really, Really Hurt, (by Molly Bang), ask the students if they have a favourite tree. If it is feasible for your class, explain that you will be going on a nature walk to find a tree they really like. Ask the students to pay attention to how Sophie draws and colours her tree and how she feels about her drawing. Begin the book. As you are reading, pause at various points for discussion (i.e. how she painted the tree blue, how the tree looked sad and happy, etc.). Go for a nature walk and look at trees. Stop and point out various aspects of the trees, including: trunks, leaves, size, shape, etc. Ask students to feel the bark and possibly take a leaf from the ground, if any have fallen off.
Have the students draw a picture of their favourite tree. When all are done, ask them to share with the class. Describe their picture and point out what makes each picture special. Remind students that trees grow big and strong. Students also grow big and can grow mentally strong using positive and growth mindset thinking.

Mental Health & Wellness for Catholic Schools: Emotions, Resiliency, Belonging, & Dignity of the Whole Person

Positive and Growth Mindset: Use the BLM 3 with the students. In the small word bubble, write one of the fixed mindset statements. Together, as a class, come up with a growth mindset or positive thinking statement to print in the larger bubble.

i.e. Instead of saying... I can say (some ideas):

I can't do this...                      I can't do this yet, but if I practice I can!
I give up...                                Even though this is hard, I will keep trying.
I'm not good at this...                If I keep practicing, I will get better at this.
This is too hard...                      I can try my best.

Remind students that they can choose to use positive thinking or growth mindset to keep themselves mentally healthy as they grow.

Finish with one minute of Christian Meditation. Ask students to sit in a circle and close their eyes. Explain that when the music starts, they are to repeat the words, "Jesus loves me, Jesus loves me, Jesus loves me..." quietly in their heads. They are to think about a strategy they can use when they are sad or angry. When the music stops, quietly resume your classroom activities.

Notes:

Another good resource is the picture book When Sophie Gets Angry – Really, Really Angry by Molly Bang. It is the same character as When Sophie's Feelings Are Really, Really Hurt, and it discusses what Sophie does when she gets angry with her sister during playtime. Sophie runs out to her backyard and climbs the tree until she feels better. It is always important to stress that young children do not run away or hide from adults when they are angry, as they need to remain safe. Remind young children that if they need to run or hide, to always tell an adult first, or perhaps to have it as a safety plan, similar to a fire drill, so the parents know where to look if their child is angry or upset.

Instead of saying.....

I can say.....

Grade Kindergarten Lesson 3 Building a Sense of Belonging and Community for our Young Learners

Background: It is important that everyone feels safe. All students should feel safe coming to school. When children enter Kindergarten, it is often the first time they leave their parents for long periods of time. They need to feel like they belong in the classroom and in the school. Learning how to show respect to others will help all students feel safe and cared for.

Curriculum Expectations – Catholic Graduate Expectations, Overall and Specific Expectations from related Subjects

Catholic Graduate Expectations

- Because I am a believer, I will live my life like Jesus.
- I care about others and speak up for them
- I think carefully before I react or speak
- I am a peace-maker
- I am forgiving
- I stand up for what is right

Subject Overall Expectations

Belonging and Contributing & Self-Regulation and Well-Being

- OE1-communicate with others in a variety of ways, for a variety of purposes, and in a variety of contexts
- OE3-identify and use social skills in play and other contexts
- OE22-communicate their thoughts and feelings, and their theories and ideas, through various art forms
- OE26-develop an appreciation of the multiple perspectives encountered within groups, and of ways in which they themselves can contribute to groups and to group well-being

Learning Goals:

Students will learn how their actions affect others. They will, in turn, be more aware of helping their peers, as they realize it helps themselves feel good as well.

someone’s bucket. How does Jesus fill our bucket? (listening to our prayers, bringing peace to our spirit, guiding our actions)

Using BLM 5, students will draw a picture of themselves filling someone’s bucket, then write a sentence explaining how they filled it. (They might draw a picture of helping out a friend or saying something kind to a classmate, etc.)

Resource used: <http://clipart-library.com/clipart/291147.html>

Consolidation (Nurture)

Approximately 30 Minutes

When students are done, have them come back to the carpet for Christian Meditation. Remind them of the prayer at the beginning of the lesson and ask them to think about the story. Give them twenty seconds, then explain that they are going to close their eyes and listen to the music, while in their minds thinking about how they can fill someone else’s bucket this week. Ask them to repeat the words, “God loves me, God loves me, God loves me, ...). Only play the music for one minute, then slowly move on to your next activity. Lights off for this activity may be appropriate.

Have a clear bucket somewhere visible for students to see, and a bowl or bucket of coloured pompoms. As you notice students doing kind deeds for each other, allow them to put a pompom in the bucket. The combination of praise with gaining a pompom is very effective.

You might also want to finish by viewing the Sesame Street: Respect \(Word on the Street Podcast\), and teaching the song, to help reinforce to the students how important it is to respect everyone. <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=GOzrAK4gOSo>

Extension activities

Belonging Caterpillar

For children to see how important it is for everyone to belong, have the students stand up and make a line. Each person holds the shoulders of the person in front of them. Slowly, the front child walks around the room and everyone follows holding shoulders of the person in front. Remind them that to keep the caterpillar moving, we need everyone to belong and work together. As students round corners, the caterpillar may break – remind the students to stop and continue going when we have everyone together.

Mental Health & Wellness for Catholic Schools: Emotions, Resiliency, Belonging, & Dignity of the Whole Person

Belonging Routines

Create a classroom prayer together about how everyone belongs. Begin the prayer with, “In the name of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit.” Ask students what they would like to thank God for and what they would like to ask God to bless their class with during the school day. Use this prayer as the end of day prayer to remind your students how they belong to God’s family and to this classroom.

Create a classroom special handshake or high five (side five, low five). Have them practice it so that everyone knows that they are part of a class community. Consider having the Student of the Day be the handshaker, who shakes everyone’s hand with the classroom handshake as they enter the classroom at the beginning of the day.

Notes:

Lesson 3 Scenarios

Ask students to close their eyes as you read each scenario, and picture themselves in the situation. When done reading the scenario, pause and ask students to share how they would feel in each situation.

1. You are playing at home with your favorite toy. Your brother or sister come along and trade it with another toy without asking you first. (They probably feel angry, they might yell or want to hit them. They might grab it back.)
2. It is time to choose a center in the classroom. You want to go to your favorite center, but it is full, and you have to pick somewhere else. (They probably feel sad, left out, or angry. They might feel like crying.)
3. You want to eat lunch at the table with your friend, but it is full and you have to sit somewhere else. (They probably feel sad, left out, or angry. They might feel like crying.)
4. You are drawing a picture and one of your classmates tells you they think it's a great drawing. (They probably feel proud, excited or happy.)

Grade Kindergarten Lesson 4
Developing a Sense of Dignity in Every Child

Background: Every child deserves to be treated with dignity and respect. Students need to be aware of what respect looks like, sounds like, and feels like, so they can recognize when it's not happening, as well as ensure they treat others respectfully. As Children of God, everyone has the right to feel loved.

Curriculum Expectations – Catholic Graduate Expectations, Overall and Specific Expectations from related Subjects

Catholic Graduate Expectations

- I believe in forgiveness
- Because I am a believer, I will live my life like Jesus.
- I care about others and speak up for them
- I respect all people and their languages
- Because I have a voice, I will use it lovingly, and I will live my life like Jesus
- I know we are all equal and special
- I build on my strengths and weaknesses
- Because I am a team player, I know that 'Together is Better', and we will live our lives like Jesus.
- I care about and respect my 'family' at school, at Church, in the community, and the world

Subject Overall Expectations

Belonging and Contributing & Self-Regulation and Well-Being

- OE1-communicate with others in a variety of ways, for a variety of purposes, and in a variety of contexts
- OE3-identify and use social skills in play and other contexts
- OE22-communicate their thoughts and feelings, and their theories and ideas, through various art forms
- OE25-demonstrate a sense of identity and a positive self-image
- OE26-develop an appreciation of the multiple perspectives encountered within groups, and of ways in which they themselves can contribute to groups and to group well-being
- OE27-recognize bias in ideas and develop the self-confidence to stand up for themselves and others against prejudice and discrimination

Learning Goals:

Students will learn the importance of treating others the way they want to be treated and to accept others for who they are so that every child is treated with dignity and respect. The goal is to help each other feel like they matter because they are a Child of God.

Then ask students to think about people who they turn to when they need something (who helps them when they are sad, hurt or angry?). When they've had a minute or two to think about it, have them turn to their partner and share. When they have had a minute to share with their partner, ask if anyone wants to share their thoughts with the class. This will enable students who didn't really know what to think about to better understand the concept. Read the Lesson 4 Scenarios (BLM 6) and ask students how they think Jesus would feel in each scenario. Then ask students to think about how they feel in each scenario. Ask if there are any students who would like to share their thoughts. When you are done reading the scenarios, explain that the main character in the book you are about to read experienced some of these feelings.
Read the book "ONE" by Kathryn Otoshi. (It is also available on youtube: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ISnSZ11ptN0 ). Discuss how the colours/numbers treated each other, and how they felt. After various situations, point out how Blue felt, and how the other colours made him feel. Ask the students what Blue was proud of. Ask students how Blue felt when Red was around, and how the other colours reacted to Red. Finally, ask how things changed when One came along, and wouldn't let Red bother him. Ask students what happened when all the colours worked together and said "No" to Red. Explain that by standing together they were able to stop Red from being mean, yet they were also including Red. Focus on the idea that everyone counts, everyone matters because through God's eyes we are all His Children.

Suggested questions as you read through the book:

1. On pages 4 and 5, when Blue wishes he could be more like the other colours, ask students if they ever feel like that. Perhaps they wish they could draw as well as their friend draws, or they wish they could run around the gym faster. Ask them what their God given talent is, what makes them special, and how do they use the gifts or talents God gave them?
2. Before turning the page, ask students, "How you think Blue feels around Red?" Ask them to think about the colours of the Zones, and what Red means. (Red means angry, out of control).
3. When Red picks on Blue, ask students what they notice about how Blue looks when he's feeling bad. (Turns into a puddle). Ask students if they remember ever feeling like that (small, afraid, scared, wanting to hide).
4. When the other colours comfort Blue, yet won't say it in front of Red, ask the students how they think the other colours feel. Why do they think the other colours won't say anything around Red? Do the students think they would speak up to Red if they were one of the other colours? Why or why not? (Students might be afraid they will get picked on themselves).
5. Ask the students what happens to Red when no one tells him to stop being mean. (He gets bigger and meaner).
6. Ask the students what happens to the other colours when Red gets meaner. (They all feel "a little blue". Remind them of the Blue in the Zones of Regulation).
7. Ask the students how they think Red is feeling right now. He has no friends, and everyone is afraid of him. (Some students might think he feels happy that he is in control, others might think he's lonely or sad, or simply angry because of the Red colour).
8. When One comes on the scene, and says "No" to Red, ask the students how they think One is feeling. (Brave, fearless).
9. Ask how Red reacts to One. (He rolls away and leaves One alone).

Mental Health & Wellness for Catholic Schools:
Emotions, Resiliency, Belonging, & Dignity of the Whole Person

10. When the other colours change to numbers, ask the students what they think Blue will do. (Some might think he will change to a 6, others might think he's too afraid.) Ask students what they would do if they were Blue. 11. Ask how Red reacts when he feels left out. (He's getting angrier, bigger, hotter. He's getting out of control, like the Red in the Zones of Regulation.) 12. Ask what happens to Red when all the colors stand up to Red. (Red still feels angry, but leaves.) 13. Ask students what they think of Blue when he invites Red to join in the count.

Lesson 4 Scenarios

Turn the lights off. Ask students to close their eyes between each scenario, and picture themselves in each situation. When done reading each scenario, pause for a minute, then ask students to share how they would feel in each situation. Possible answers are given in brackets following the sentence. When you are done, turn the lights on. Explain that this is how one of the characters feels in the book you are about to read.

1. You are drawing a picture and you look at your neighbor's picture, and you wish you could draw like them. (I'd feel sad and like I'm not good enough; I'd feel jealous; I'd feel like my picture isn't pretty enough).
2. You are in the gym running around, and your friends can run faster than you can. (I'd feel angry; I'd feel sad; I'd feel embarrassed).
3. Your friend is picking teams for a game. You are the last one picked. (I'd feel hurt, I'd feel angry, I'd feel sad).
4. One of your classmates tell you they don't like your t-shirt. (I'd feel sad; I'd want to change my shirt; I'd feel like crying).
5. You are playing outside by yourself, and a classmate asks you to join them on the climber. (I'd feel happy; I'd feel special; I'd feel excited).

Grade Kindergarten Culminating Activity Creating a Toolbox of Strategies

Background: Having now completed four lessons about Mental Health and Well-being, students have a better understanding of how to self-regulate their feelings, emotions, and moods in order to have a calm mind and body. They will have a toolkit of personal strategies to assist them as they learn and grow.

Curriculum Expectations – Catholic Graduate Expectations, Overall and Specific Expectations from related Subjects

Catholic Graduate Expectations

- I believe that we can talk to God anytime and anywhere, through prayer
- I believe in forgiveness
- I think carefully before I react or speak
- I have thoughts and opinions that matter
- I make good choices
- Because I am a learner for life, I can reach for my dreams, by living my life like Jesus
- I am forgiving
- Because I accept my responsibilities, I can make a difference, and will live my life like Jesus

Learning Goals:

Students will use the strategies they've learned in this unit to create a toolbox. They will be able to carry it with them through the Primary grades and use the strategies to help them stay in, or return to, the Green zone

Subject Overall Expectations

Belonging and Contributing & Self-Regulation and Well-Being

OE1-communicate with others in a variety of ways, for a variety of purposes, and in a variety of contexts

OE22-communicate their thoughts and feelings, and their theories and ideas, through various art forms

OE25-demonstrate a sense of identity and a positive self-image

OE26-develop an appreciation of the multiple perspectives encountered within groups, and of ways in which they themselves can contribute to groups and to group well-being

Minds On (Envision)	Approximately 5 Minutes	Monitoring Progress (Discern)  Look Fors: What might it look like?          What might it sound like?          What might it feel like?
Begin with the song God Will Turn Your Life Around (Emotions Hokey Pokey) BLM 8. As a class, think about how we know if we are angry, sad, or scared. What do we notice in our body? Sometimes children have a hard time recognizing their feelings when they start to get upset. A helpful way to talk about the body is to make a ginger person, using a cookie cutter and playdough. When we talk about how our bodies feel when we get upset, the teacher can use different colours of playdough to place coloured circles on the different areas of the body that the children mention (common responses are making a fist, angry face, stomach hurts, headache, etc.) Students need help self-regulating and identifying their feelings, emotions, or moods before they can self-identify. Talk about strategies students could use if they start to feel upset. (*Talk to an adult and tell them they are not feeling calm/happy. *Find their quiet spot to think and breathe. *Think of their family or friends and what makes them happy.)
Action (Sow)	Approximately 15 Minutes
Ask students to brainstorm about the various things you have talked about throughout this unit. Write their answers on chart paper. Discuss which strategies they think they will use when feeling sad, hurt or angry. Explain to the students that they are going to create a “Cool down/Emotions Toolbox”, which they will fill with strategies they have learned that will help them stay in, or return to, the Green Zone. Tell the students that you are going to read them a story called All My Treasures by Jo Witek. Explain that it is about a little girl who wants to keep all of her treasures in a box, but not all of them are treasures that she can hold. Some of her treasures are feelings and thoughts. Ask them to think about how she could treasure them in her box.

1. When you are done reading the story, ask students what they will put in their boxes. Ask them to share how they will put things they can't touch in their box. Perhaps they will put in a picture of their mom or dad (from home or that they have drawn) to remind them of their hugs, feathers to remember to breathe, or maybe they will put in a cotton ball to remind them of the fluffy clouds).

Consolidation (Nurture)

Approximately 20 Minutes

Give every student their "Toolbox" (i.e. small wooden box or paper image for drawing or cutting and pasting from magazines, etc.). Ask them to fill their boxes with pictures or items that will help them remember their strategies for staying in the Green Zone. If the next group of teachers in your school will be continuing this strategy, you can explain to students that this box is going to follow them through to the end of Grade 3. Otherwise, you can explain to students that this toolbox could be safely kept at home after this year, to be used throughout their school years.

Notes:

It is also important to note that students need to be reminded that they also have a mental toolbox. If they can't access their physical toolbox, they simply need to remember or picture in their head the items and strategies from their box.

Some teachers may want to end the unit with a class party. This could include healthy treats with songs they've learned playing in the background, or simply sharing their toolboxes with their peers.

Fill your toolbox with pictures that will help you remember your strategies for staying in the Green Zone

Resiliency

Background: “Resilience is the ability to recover or ‘bounce back’ from problems, hurt, or loss. Critical for social and emotional health, resilience helps people feel happy, capable, and in charge of their lives.” Bounce Back! A book about resilience by Cheri J. Meiners

“To achieve optimal mental health and well-being, students need to learn ways to rise above negative life circumstances. To help students build resiliency you can lead efforts to ensure that each student:

- feels appreciated and valued;
- understands how to set realistic expectations for themselves and others;
- acquires positive problem-solving skills;
- applies productive coping strategies during times of adversity;
- seeks assistance when support is needed; and
- experiences positive support and interactions with peers and adults.”

Read the book Bounce Back. Have students brainstorm ideas with you thinking of a problem in a new way (changing the lens on a problem). Present the students with a single example problem and work through together as a group – my friend won't play with me today (or a problem that has been going on in your class). Ask the students "What could a student do to 'bounce back' from this problem?" Use a pair of dollar store glasses to control the flow of the conversation as they work through the problem. Whoever is wearing the glasses can speak. The glasses are passed to the next person who wants to speak. Teacher can write ideas on a ball (see blackline master) to provide an example for children of 'bounce back' ideas. Some examples of 'Bounce Back Strategies' (resilience): I can pray. Is this a small problem or a big problem? Draw how I am feeling Talk it out Play with someone else today. Make a new friend Gratitude picture (ex: all the time you have played with your friend, all your other friends, family, Jesus, all who love you)

Help someone who doesn't have a friend.

Students can then draw on their own ball (black master copy) how they bounce back from a problem.

This can be done as a bulletin board. Display balls on bulletin board. Refer to them frequently as problems/ conflict arise

Extension activity: act it out. Ask for volunteers to act out a problem such as 'my friend won't play with me'. Then ask a new group of students to act out solutions. An example of a solution may be to play with another friend. You may have another group of students come up and act out another solution such as meet with a friend and share feelings, and yet another group act out 'drawing out their problem' to cool down. Having several different solutions helps students remember that there are many ways to 'bounce back' from a problem!

Consolidation (Nurture)

Approximately 30 Minutes

A helper person is someone who listens, cares, loves, supports you when you are upset.

Draw their 'helper person' (see blackline master) and keep it in their individual 'toolbox'. The toolbox is either a blackline master paper, such as <http://coloringhome.com/coloring/niX/ny5/niXny55GT.pdf>, where students draw or glue their coping strategies.

Ideally it is a real box (purchased at the dollar store that would follow them year to year as strategies change, increase).

Students would add strategies that work for them and people that support them throughout the lessons and the years. They may wish to share this resource with parents or caregivers so other important people know what works for them when they need help.

Belonging/Relationship

Background: “We can encourage our staff to integrate social emotional learning (SEL) into classroom activities so that students learn skills related to self-awareness, social awareness, self-regulation, relationship building, and decision-making. Research has shown a link between social emotional learning skills and academic performance. For more information about the critical role of social emotional learning, visit the Collaborative for Academic, Social and Emotional Learning (CASEL) at <http://casel.org/>”. Our role as educators is crucial in setting the stage for healthy interactions within a foundation of trust. Supporting Minds an Educator’s guide to Promoting Students’ Mental Health and Well Being says it best, “A positive school climate exists when all members of the school community feel safe, included, and accepted, and actively promote positive behaviours and interactions”. Have a lot of stars and dots available to students. They could each have their own or kept in a central location. Children need to be aware that their words can make others feel good or bad (empathy building). Students will place dots or stars on their own bodies based on the words or actions they receive from friends. If a classmate sees a dot they will ask what they can do to make the dot disappear (building that empathy piece). Once the student feels better he/she will take off their dot and can replace it with a star. This can be done as an on-going activity or a targeted activity. A targeted activity is done once with the lesson. It is important that once the students become aware of their impact on others to know that they are all God’s masterpiece and we are all created in His image. Perhaps to finish the activity there could be a special paper, a heart representing God’s love they could all color saying they are all God’s special students.
Consolidation (Nurture) On-Going
The most important part of this activity is the follow up. It is the realization that our words have the power to hurt others and we also have the power to make others feel better or feel good. A peace table offers the student a safe place to solve problems with their friends when they become aware or, in some cases, are made aware they have hurt others. A round table can be set up outside the classroom with a paper with four statements: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- I’m sorry for ... ( admitting our mistakes )</li> <li>- It made you feel... ( empathy)</li> <li>- Next time I will... ( plan)</li> <li>- Will you forgive me? (healing)</li> </ul> En français <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Je m’excuse pour...</li> <li>- Je t’ai fait sentir...</li> <li>- La prochaine fois je...</li> <li>- Est-ce que tu me pardonnes?</li> </ul>

Mental Health & Wellness for Catholic Schools: Emotions, Resiliency, Belonging, & Dignity of the Whole Person

The students sit and go through the statements either alone or with teacher support. The teacher can do check ins to ensure they are managing on their own. As the students become more independent they start requesting to go to the peace table on their own whenever.

Emotions/Feelings

Background: Leah Kuypers, in her book The Zones of Regulation, defines a toolbox as: “A collection of calming and alerting strategies a student can pull from depending on the recent need”. (p. 10)

Building on the information gained in lesson # 1 (Kindergarten lessons) on Zones of Regulation this lesson will add a list of strategies. These are not finite, and some may not apply. Please add Christian meditation, MindMasters, prayer or any other strategies you and your students might think of.

have to get through the giggle gauntlet without cracking a smile!

The Giggle Gauntlet:

2 students start with stone faces and walk past the other students in line. They must try not to crack a smile as they go through, the rest of the class makes funny faces, smiles, etc. but does not touch the 2 while they walk. The rest of the class must try to make the students smile.

Vary the emotion cues with “Happy” until all students have gone through the giggle gauntlet.

Action (Sow)

Approximately 15 Minutes

Students should find a comfortable sitting position (either sitting in their chair with their feet on the floor, or criss-cross on the floor), with their backs straight. They will close their eyes if they feel comfortable to do so and take a deep breath in through their noses, hold it for 3 seconds and then exhale slowly through their mouths. Challenge them to continue doing this for 30 seconds. Afterwards, discuss how they felt during the exercise – did they feel relaxed? Uncomfortable? At peace?

Students will have the opportunity to practice their breathing (in through their nose, out through their mouth), by creating bubble art. The focus will be on controlled breathing as they create the bubbles in the paint mixture: if they exhale too quickly, the bubbles will pop. As the students are slowly breathing into the bubble mixture, have them reflect on the ‘Just Breathe’ video. Brainstorm as a class situations where this breathing technique would help them overcome big emotions and write them on the board/chart paper.

Bubble Art:

Supplies needed – dish soap, paint, water, straws, medium-sized containers, card stock

Mix 2 parts dish soap, 2 parts tempera paint to 1 part water into a medium-sized container. Use a straw to create bubbles in the container, and then gently place a piece of paper on top of the bubbles.

Once the bubble art has dried, students can choose some of the big emotions brainstormed earlier and write them in the bubbles.
Consolidation (Nurture)                      Approximately 30 Minutes
Revisit the importance of acknowledging our emotions and how slowing our breathing, taking deep breaths in through our noses and out through our mouths can help us to calm down and centre ourselves. As an exit card, have the students write down one situation where they might use this new strategy. Students should also add their new strategy to their 'Tool Box' (resource located in the Grade 1 section of this resource).

Grade: 3 Lesson 2 - Resiliency
The Resilient Bird Gets the Worm

Background: “Our learners will ... need to develop characteristics such as perseverance, resilience, and imaginative thinking to overcome challenges.” (Achieving Excellence, p.5)

Resilient students are better-able to overcome obstacles at school, at home and in the wider community. By fostering resilience, we are helping to create people who are ready to not only face challenges and obstacles but overcome them.

Think-Pair-Share: What does it feel like when you are learning something new for the first time? Did you let your nervousness prevent you from learning and mastering the new skill? Growth Mindset Practice Let students know that one of the most important factors in learning new skills is having a growth mindset. A growth mindset is about wanting to learn more than just wanting to ‘get it right’. Group students into groups of 4. The youngest student in each group will be the ‘robot’ and the other students need to direct them from where they are standing to the door. The direction is that the robot can ONLY move how the individuals direct. Therefore, if they are asked to go 10 steps, they must go in the direction they are facing, until the group directs them to turn directions. Have them record the directions they give the ‘robot’ as a group so that another person could start from the first location. Ask how difficult it was to have the robot move at first. Giving directions in this format can be challenging at first. To add excitement, the ‘robots’ could be blindfolded, but one of the other group members should then be a ‘safety person’ and be in charge of making sure that the individual being directed does not run into any objects.		Students engaged in discussion Refer here for more information on Growth Mindset to support students in their discussion. https://twitter.com/MindShiftKQED/status/1013037019134615552 What did they think about learning the activity as opposed to doing it perfectly the first time? Does God expect us to be perfect? At first, Piper wants to just sit back and let her mother feed her, but then she realizes she will need to find food for herself independently. She faces many setbacks (the waves crashing into her), but then she learns from the crabs a strategy that will help her gather her own food. Piper is proud of herself, and she shares her newfound knowledge with her community.) For those students who are at an earlier stage of writing and/or need more support, you can co-create an overview of the story with the whole class.

This video highlights the process of learning, how setbacks can be discouraging, but that if you persevere and show resiliency you can experience success. As a class, discuss what the word resilient means and/or what it means to be resilient. Does the baby piper eventually demonstrate resilience? How?

What character traits does Piper possess? What challenges does she face? How do those challenges -and the other characters in the video-help Piper change and grow?

Piper is a simple story with one setting and very few characters, but it has a very strong message. Challenge students to write their own story about a time when they were learning something new and encountered some stumbling blocks. Their story should describe a time when they learned something new and how that helped them to grow or change.

Consolidation (Nurture)

Resilience Toilet Paper

Hand out a fresh new roll of toilet paper to students – ask them to take as much as they would like without telling them what you are going to be doing. Once everyone has toilet paper, let students know that when we are learning something new and come across a problem, we all have strategies we use, or thoughts that we say to ourselves to keep going! For every square of toilet paper they have taken, they need to list a strategy that a class friend could use to keep going on a difficult task. What did Piper do in the video? What did they do in the story they chose? What do they do if they come across a tricky question? You may wish to extend the learning at the end by asking if there was any strategy that a friend mentioned that they would try themselves next time.

Have volunteers share their writing with the class before displaying their work. Students will then choose a partner to

Strategies could include: praying to God, giving your worries to God, asking God for help, taking a break, going to a different question, saying “I can do this”, asking a classmate for help, talking to the teacher, doing a fun activity for a little while, practice and practice again, say “I can’t do this YET”, getting a drink of water, having a snack, try your best etc. These are examples of positive thinking, growth mindset, biological strategies, and help seeking behaviour share their story with – each pair of students will look for similarities and parallels within their stories to reiterate that everyone experiences setbacks and disappointments, and it is how we continue moving forward that helps define us. As their exit-card, the similarities and parallels that they find within and between the stories can be written down on sticky notes.

Mental Health & Wellness for Catholic Schools: Emotions, Resiliency, Belonging, & Dignity of the Whole Person

Notes:

This activity lends itself well to practice EQAO testing questions. Asking students questions such as ‘Explain how being resilient helped Piper. Use details from the video to support your answer’ can assist in preparing them for the testing.

Grade: 3 Lesson 4 - Dignity
The Invisible Boy

Background: Treating others with dignity and respect means being sensitive to their needs and doing what is best for them. By following the Golden Rule - while acknowledging, respecting, and celebrating our differences - we create a better classroom community, school community and wider community.

Curriculum Expectations – Catholic Graduate Expectations, Overall and Specific Expectations from related Subjects

Catholic Graduate Expectations

I am a Team Player! – I respect and listen to others

I Have a Voice! I respect all people and their languages

I Care! I care about and respect my ‘family’ at school, at Church, in the community and in the world

I Have Responsibilities! I know that all life is precious

Subject Overall Expectations

Religious Education

LS2: Understand that God created all persons in his one image; equal in their human dignity yet diverse in their being (i.e. male and female, weak and strong, diverse of race, colour, creed, charisms, talents) and this equality and diversity is to be respected

Language – Oral Communication

1. Listen in order to understand and respond appropriately in a variety of situations for a variety of purposes
2. Use speaking skills and strategies appropriately to communicate with different audiences for different Purposes

Health & Physical Education – Healthy Living

C3 Demonstrate the ability to make connections that relate to health and well-being – how their choices and behaviours affect both themselves and others, and how factors in the world around them affect their own and others’ health and well-being

Learning Goals:

Students will learn:

- ♥ that we are all deserving of respect
- ♥ that God loves all of us

What do you Wish I Knew? Activity

This activity allows all learners to feel visible to their teacher. The Ted talk for teachers suggests that all teachers can help their students feel visible by asking them “What do you wish your teacher knew about you?” Put this question on the board and give each child a piece of paper for them to write out their answer. Let the students know that what they write will not be shared with the class but that you will read each of these pieces of paper. This activity supports welcoming, dignity and belonging.

ML2: God created human persons with free will and reason (the ability to choose to do what is good or what is not good)
PR2: Within the Tradition of the Catholic Church, sacred space is used to point us to Christ Jesus, the object of our prayers. Through symbols, sacramentals, images, architecture and silence we are drawn to Christ and through prayer to communicate with God.

Language – Oral Communication

1. Listen in order to understand and respond appropriately in a variety of situations for a variety of purposes
2. Use speaking skills and strategies appropriately to communicate with different audiences for different purposes

Health & Physical Education – Personal Skills

1. Demonstrate personal and interpersonal skills and use the critical and creative thinking processes as they acquire

Learning Goals:

Students will:

- ♥ Share a strategy they have learned with their classmates
- ♥ Collaborate to make a list of ways the classroom can be a more inclusive, caring environment for everyone

Peace Prayer of St. Francis

Lord, make me an instrument of your peace:
 where there is hatred, let me sow love;
 where there is injury, pardon;
 where there is doubt, faith;
 where there is despair, hope;
 where there is darkness, light;
 where there is sadness, joy.

O divine Master, grant that I may not so much seek to be consoled as to console,
 to be understood as to understand,
 to be loved as to love.
 For it is in giving that we receive,
 it is in pardoning that we are pardoned,
 and it is in dying that we are born to eternal life.
 Amen.

How can they use their newly acquired skills and strategies to help make their classroom and school communities' better places for themselves and their classmates? What can they do to give others a 'reason to dance'?
Action (Sow) Approximately 15 Minutes
Divide the class up into two groups. The first group will find a quiet place to sit in the classroom. The second group will find, and sit with, a partner from the first group. Each pair will have two minutes to describe a strategy or skill they have learned, throughout the series of lessons, that will help them be more thoughtful at home, in classroom, the school, and the wider community. After the 2 minutes is up, the students from group two will move to sit with another classmate and continue the process 1 or 2 more times. Optional – Students, in pairs or small groups, can be challenged to write a script for their own 'Pep Talk' video. If technology is available, students could actually create the videos as part of a culminating task.
Consolidation (Nurture) Approximately 30 Minutes
Have the students share the best strategies and skills that were discussed during their rotations. Let the students know this activity takes us – full circle – literally! Students go around the circle one by one and come up with an answer no one has said yet for the theme. Students must go in order and if they cannot think of anything, then they are out and move away from the circle. The game continues until only a few students remain. Feel free to make up your own categories. The first category would be ‘circle’ so each student would say an item that is circular or round. The second theme would be to name someone in your circle of support. The third theme would be a strategy or skill that promotes wholeness. From the activity above, the students should be primed with skills and strategies that they would have written down on their sheets.	Possible answers for the theme <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1) Circle: sun, ball, apple, orange, wheel etc.</li> <li>2) Someone in your circle of support: father, mother, grandmother, aunt, doctor, teacher, sister, friend</li> <li>3) A skill that promotes wholeness: prayer, deep breathing, sleeping, relaxing etc.</li> </ol>
Notes:

Grade: 4 Lesson 1
Feelings and Emotions

Background: Students will recognize, identify, visualize and describe a variety of feelings and emotions. After discussion and observation of visual art works and musical compositions, students will have the opportunity to create two-dimensional artworks to portray a feeling or feelings of their choice.

Curriculum Expectations – Catholic Graduate Expectations, Overall and Specific Expectations from related Subjects

Catholic Graduate Expectations

CGE1d - develops attitudes and values founded on Catholic social teaching and acts to promote social responsibility, human solidarity and the common good;
CGE2a - listens actively and critically to understand and learn in light of Gospel values;
CGE2c – presents information and ideas clearly and honestly and with sensitivity to others;
CGE5e - respects the rights, responsibilities and contributions of self and others;

Subject Overall Expectations

The Arts - Visual Arts

D1. Creating and Presenting: apply the creative process (see pages 19–22) to produce a variety of two- and three-dimensional art works, using elements, principles, and techniques of visual arts to communicate feelings, ideas, and understandings; D2. Reflecting, Responding, and Analysing: apply the critical analysis process (see pages 23–28) to communicate feelings, ideas, and understandings in response to a variety of art works and art experiences;

Subject Specific Expectations

The Arts - Visual Arts

D1.1 create two- and three-dimensional works of art that express feelings and ideas inspired by their interests and experiences
D2.1 interpret a variety of art works, and identify the feelings, issues, themes, and social concerns that they convey

Learning Goals:

Students will learn, and gain an understanding of, the role emotions play in creating art and how much art can elicit emotional responses. Students will also learn to identify a range of emotions, the importance of emotions in our lives, and how they may be able to express and regulate comfortable and uncomfortable feelings. Students will learn that art can be a therapeutic and acceptable avenue to express their emotions, both positive and negative, as they create paintings based on their feelings.

Mental Health & Wellness for Catholic Schools:
Emotions, Resiliency, Belonging, & Dignity of the Whole Person

We begin in the name of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit...

Holy Spirit, please encircle me,
Come hold me safe and secure.
Wrap my mind up with your truth
Guide my thoughts and calm my fears.
Steady my emotions,
Lord that you would guide my feelings,
May I not be overcome by upset.
Sustain my soul,
With vision for the future,
And hope for tomorrow.

I need you.

Amen.

Minds On (Envision)

Approximately 5 Minutes

Monitoring Progress (Discern)
Look Fors:

What might it look like?
What might it sound like?
What might it feel like?

Have the class meet together in a way that feels comfortable for the group, such as sitting in a community circle.

Relay to the class that you are meeting today to do some art projects about feelings and emotions.

You could ask questions, such as:

1. What kinds of emotions do we experience on a daily basis?
2. What other kinds of emotions are you familiar with?
3. How are you feeling today? Pick a number between one and ten that captures how you're feeling today. One is the worst, and ten is the best.

Extension Activity

Students do well picking numbers between one and ten to capture how they feel, as recommended above. This technique

Mental Health & Wellness for Catholic Schools: Emotions, Resiliency, Belonging, & Dignity of the Whole Person

(known as scaling) can be used not just for their general feeling but also to learn about engagement and belonging.

Have students write down their numbers for the following questions:

1. How much do you feel you belong in our school?
2. How much do you feel needed in this building?
3. How hard do you work to make others feel included?

Without asking them to share their specific number, have a conversation about what the class, school, and building would look like if everyone put a 10. What would be different? What would it take to move the number up just one on the scale? What would be different? What could you do personally to help that change happen?

Pick up the sheets, without names, and take a look at the numbers given. Consider doing this exercise again in a month to see if there were any changes in the numbers.

Action (Sow)

Approximately 15 Minutes

Look at the works of various artists throughout time. While looking at the works, see if students can pick out any strong emotional feelings the paintings might elicit for them.

While observing the pictures, or immediately afterwards, introduce the idea that colours and lines may prompt various emotions. How do certain colors make us feel? Why? Red might make one think of anger, while yellow could give someone a sense of calmness.

What kinds of lines are there?

Sharp, jagged lines might demonstrate 'mad', while smooth swirls might demonstrate 'peacefulness'.

Extension: You could add in listening to various rhythms and tones in instrumental music, allowing students to identify their emotional connection to the instrumental piece and compare the idea of "emotional music" with "emotional paintings".

Consolidation (Nurture)

Approximately 30 Minutes

Vocabulary to revisit and reinforce:

feeling, emotion, colour, line, happy, sad, angry, excited, etc.

What Students Will Need:

- scrap paper
- pencils
- painting paper
- paints (red, yellow and blue)
- paintbrushes
- water
- containers
- mixing trays
- paper towels
- painting smocks
- music (various styles)

What You Do:

1. Warm up by having students draw lines based upon certain feelings (or based on the instrumental music, if introduced previously). For example, draw happy lines, draw angry lines, etc. When you feel that your students are comfortable with the design elements expected of them, allow students to begin working with the brushes and paints. If they have not worked with paints recently you may wish to review proper usage (i.e. rinsing the brush before switching colours, being careful with the brushes so they do not get damaged, etc.).
2. Students will need to choose an emotion or feeling that they want to express, using various paint colors and lines. Students may feel more comfortable drawing their design before beginning to paint.
3. Since this task is very individualized, and reliant on each student's perspective, it will be important to allow sufficient time and to encourage them to evaluate their work intermittently. This will require pausing and determining if the desired feelings or emotions are present in their [piece, product, painting?].
4. When the students' paintings are approaching completion, use quick informal conferences to determine the emotion they are trying to portray and how they have shown it. If the student agrees to share his or her painting, hang it on display and have other students suggest how they interpret the emotions portrayed in the artwork.

Notes:

Extensions to the art activity:

Students write an emotion story or poem to go along with their painting.

Grade: 4 Lesson 2
Stretching and Bouncing Back

Background:

What Is Resilience?

Children who are resilient have the emotional, social, and behavioural skills to successfully navigate life’s challenges. Resilient children face hardships courageously and may even thrive when confronted with difficulties.

Why Is Resilience Important?

Mental health can be understood as a continuum along which people may move, influenced by multiple interrelated factors. Providing constructive supports for resilience helps children learn skills for coping that can contribute to lifelong mental health and well-being. In Ontario, up to 21 percent of children and youth – or approximately 650,000 – experience mental illness (Office of the Provincial Advocate for Children and Youth for Ontario, 2015). The Mental Health Commission of Canada (2012) strongly recommends resilience-based prevention approaches for children, carried out in schools, after-school programs, and other organizations that children frequently attend.

Grade: 4 Lesson 3

Belonging

Background: A sense of belonging provides young people with a sense of purpose, meaning, worth, and social control; all of which are contributors to positive mental health. Students with a sense of belonging, and supportive relationships with teachers and classmates, are more motivated to participate actively in the life of the classroom than those students who do not have this kind of experience. Conversely, the feeling of not belonging, or social isolation, can lead to a range of negative – and, under some circumstances, long term consequences, both physical and psychological. Explicitly reinforce that each person is welcomed and valued in the school community, and that they have a place. Encourage belonging within other social groups in the school. Encourage breadth of friendship circles.

Have the class meet together in a way that feels comfortable for the group, such as sitting in a community circle. How are you feeling today? Pick a number between one and ten that captures how you're feeling today. One is the worst, and ten is the best. Which One Doesn't Belong? is a website dedicated to providing thought-provoking puzzles for math teachers and students alike. There are no answers provided as there are many different, correct ways of choosing which one doesn't belong. Every puzzle image provides multiple entry points, as every one of the four items does not 'belong' for some reason. Choose a puzzle from the site and have students choose which of the four images they feel does not belong, and be prepared to tell why. Designate each of the four corners in the classroom to one of the responses and have students go to the corner that matches their choice and discuss. You may decide to have one spokesperson, from each of the four corners, defend their response.
Action (Sow)	Approximately 15 Minutes
Have students come together as a learning community to continue on with the belonging lesson. Say: We are all members of this classroom. Besides belonging to the same classroom, can you think of another group we all belong to? (God's children, church, etc.) How else are we all the same? How are we different? What other groups do you belong to? (i.e. classroom groups, school community groups, sporting groups, drama clubs, singing groups, friendship groups, recreational groups, family groups, etc.) List these groups on the board or chart paper. Discuss the various roles within some of the groups, and the reasons for having these roles. What are the benefits to belonging to these groups? (i.e. interacting with others, some fitness opportunities, playing a game they enjoyed, a sense of freedom, skill development, etc.)

If you were not a member of _____ group, what would you be missing out on?

Working individually or in pairs, ask the students to write an explanation about the benefits of belonging to groups, not only for them but for the wider community. Ask students to reflect on the benefits of having a sense of belonging and how it can promote mental health and well-being.

Consolidation (Nurture)

Approximately 30 Minutes

After the writing activity, discuss the students' explanations. Tell students that belonging to groups helps people to understand who they are and how they relate to others, while supporting them in gaining self-respect.

Discuss their observations, feelings, and reactions as they share the benefits of group membership. Discuss whether students ever feel respect or embarrassment for their group choices. Do they feel accepted or excluded from any groups?

Record any words that describe how one might feel if they were left out or excluded from groups and how one feels when they are included and accepted.

Which way feels better? Would you ever want to feel excluded? How can we be sure to make others feel included despite our differences?

Extension Activity

Have students fill out a BLM jigsaw puzzle piece with a self-drawn portrait of themselves and an answer to the statement "I know I belong (in this class) because....." Let students know they can ask people around them for inspiration in answering that statement. The pieces can be put together so that everyone can see themselves belonging to the class when the puzzle pieces are cut out and put on a wall. Remind students that in the same way a puzzle needs all of its pieces, this class needs each classmate to make it whole.

You can wrap up the lesson by playing the song Belonging: An Acceptance Video set to Glee-True Colours

Grade: 4 Lesson 4

Upholding Dignity

Background:

Each person is created in the image of God. The inherent dignity of the human person, which comes from God, and the right to have that dignity respected from conception to natural death, is at the core of all moral and social teachings which are rooted in scripture and the teachings and traditions of our Catholic faith.

- 2(c) Presents information and ideas clearly and honestly and with sensitivity to others.
- 2(d) Writes and speaks fluently one or both of Canada's official languages.
- 2(e) Uses and integrates the Catholic faith tradition, in the critical analysis of the arts, media, technology and information systems to enhance the quality of life.
- 4(a) Demonstrates a confident and positive sense of self and respect for the dignity and welfare of others.

Subject Overall Expectations

Religion

- ML1: Demonstrate an understanding of the importance of the Ten Commandments (i.e. Decalogue, Old Law) for living the Christian moral life.
- ML2: Explain how we are called, through the help of our consciences, to discover God's truth and obey God's will.
- LS1: Understand that there is a legitimate role and need for the charism of authority to ensure and promote the common good of society and that the Christian witness is a duty of obedience to the just laws (i.e. moral order) which promote the human community.

Language - Oral Communication

- 1. listen in order to understand and respond appropriately in a variety of situations for a variety of purposes;

Learning Goals:

Students will learn that every person is made in the image of God - and that we are all valuable and deserve to have our basic needs met - so that they respect all humans and can view them with dignity

The principle of Dignity asserts that since we have all been given equal dignity by God, we are all entitled to equal rights. Therefore Caritas Australia works to uphold dignity through people centred development programs that promote and secure human rights.

2. use speaking skills and strategies appropriately to communicate with different audiences for a variety of purposes;

Language - Writing

1. generate, gather, and organize ideas and information to write for an intended purpose and audience;

Subject Specific Expectations

Religion

ML1.3: Identify efforts being made by your family, school community and Church to live according to the Ten Commandments

ML2.1: Identify and interpret biblical passages that reveal the indwelling of God’s law in our conscience and the stance holy people take before God’s laws.

LS1.3: Identify those individuals in society who exercise legitimate authority, who work and care for the good of all people and explain why their role is important for the proper functioning of the human community.

How can those three characteristics be so influential? Explain your thinking using information from the text and your own ideas.

Action (Sow)

Approximately 15 Minutes

Post or read this quote from The Assembly of Catholic Bishops of Ontario, Fundamental Principles of Catholic Social Teaching:

“Our God-given dignity as human persons with human rights comes from having been created by God and being capable of knowing, loving and glorifying God, unlike all other earthly creatures.”

<http://www.catholiccurriculumcorp.org/Units/EquityandInclusion/DignityofHumanPerson.pdf>

Pose these questions orally:

What makes you special?

What makes people special?

How should we treat each other?

What does dignity mean?

Now have students break up into small groups to find various definitions for the word dignity using different resources, including hard copy and online material. Allow about five minutes for the students to locate and record definitions.

What definitions have you discovered? Gather the students’ definitions, and several key words, to co-create a word cloud using a site such as Wordle. <http://www.wordle.net/>

Have students read scripture verse Mark 12:28-31:

The First Commandment

<sup>28</sup>One of the scribes came near and heard them disputing with one another, and seeing that He answered them well, he asked

Mental Health & Wellness for Catholic Schools: Emotions, Resiliency, Belonging, & Dignity of the Whole Person

Him, “Which commandment is the first of all?” <sup>29</sup> Jesus answered, “The first is, ‘Hear, O Israel: the Lord our God, the Lord is one; <sup>30</sup> you shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, and with all your soul, and with all your mind, and with all your strength.’ <sup>31</sup> The second is this, ‘You shall love your neighbor as yourself.’ There is no other commandment greater than these.”

After reading, ask students to take a few moments to silently reflect on the following questions, as well as what the Scripture verse is saying and how it might impact themselves and the way they treat others.

How does the scripture help us to know what to do for other people? What are some things you could do to show that you love your neighbour as yourself? Are there things you can do when you see people being treated unfairly?

Ask students to write a diamante poem based on dignity and how we treat others. Use the following example or find examples online

An example of a diamante poem

Bike

Pedaling, spinning, weaving
Whizzing round corners, zooming along roads
Racing, roaring, speeding

The Structure of a Diamante Poem

A diamante poem is made up of 7 lines using a set structure:

Now that we know each of us looks different but is the same on the inside and shares the same basic needs, we should be able to find good in all of God’s children. We all have emotions and feelings and, at times, need to be resilient and know that we cannot run from difficulties, but rather embrace them. We need to know that if we are not there now, it’s only because we are not there yet, but we can get there if we try and persevere. Let’s embrace our challenges rather than avoid them. We can all bounce back and reach out if we need help. We all belong and are loved by God and many others. We need to respect each other and uphold the dignity of every individual as we are all created equal in God’s eyes. Let’s take some time now to develop kind &amp; positive language about our peers. This game is called “Put-Ups”. You will be challenged to encourage each other by offering "put-ups" about classmates. I’m hoping this will encourage the value of kindness and will affirm what is good about each of you. Have students draw their name, however they choose, in the middle of a sheet of paper (to take up about half of the sheet) and leave it on their desk. Then have each student visit everyone’s desk and write a positive word about the student whose name is on the sheet of paper. Display the finished products in the classroom as a reminder of belonging and treating each other with kindness and dignity.
Consolidation (Nurture)	Approximately 30 Minutes
End by gathering as a group and reflecting on what they have learned about emotions, belonging, resilience and dignity. Say the co-created class prayer from lesson 4 and flow into a Christian Meditation. Instruct students to sit with their back straight, allowing their spine to be straight but not stiff, imagining a string gently pulling their head up towards the ceiling. If seated in a chair their feet should be planted on the floor and the hands gently resting on their laps. Students should close their eyes lightly, relax the shoulders and open their hearts.

Let us pray: Come, into our hearts Lord Jesus, and give us the gift of your peace. We make this prayer in the power of your name.

Silently, in your heart, say the words:

"The peace of Christ... The peace of Christ... The peace of Christ."

(repeat for 30 seconds to 1 minute)

Say this phrase again and again, and welcome Christ's peace into your heart.

Closing prayer

Lord, we thank you for the gift of Christ's peace. May we carry it in our hearts wherever we go. May it free us from all worries, and keep us joyful in all things.

We ask you this through Christ our Lord. Amen.

Extension Activity

Ripples of kindness

Fill a large bin with water. To best see the effect, fill the bin half way with water and add food coloring. Alternately, bubbly dish soap will work well to show the ripples that are created.

Gather several large and small objects (ensure that you have something as small as a grain of rice) and have volunteers drop items into the bucket and make predictions about what will happen.

Consider the following questions:

What does it mean that kindness creates a ripple effect? Can you give an example?

What do you notice when large items are dropped in? What do you think will happen with small items?

Are there items so small that they will not create a ripple?

What does the fact that each item, no matter how small, creates a ripple mean about kindness?

Mental Health & Wellness for Catholic Schools: Emotions, Resiliency, Belonging, & Dignity of the Whole Person

Notes:

--

Grade: 6 Lesson 1
Strong in Faith, Hope and Charity

Background:

Mental health is important to our well-being. Good mental health does not mean we avoid problems and are striving for a “perfect life”. It means we are resilient to life’s challenges and understand that all of us face moments of anger, frustration and sadness. This is what makes us human. Mental well-being is not about being happy all the time. It is about finding balance and learning to ask for help when we feel overwhelmed. Strength comes from understanding that showing emotions, both happy and sad, are honest reflections of who we are. While we are all unique in our experiences and feelings, we have all been created in God's likeness. Perfect as created.

The fulcrum of this unit is on the Theological Virtues of Faith, Hope and Charity. This lesson will provide the introduction and should be referred to throughout the unit. As Catholics, we find strength in the virtues of Faith, Hope and Charity. In moments of sadness or despair, these virtues can help us find God's light and grace.

Faith Focus (Prayer/Scripture/Christian Meditation)

Reading

Today's lesson focuses on how Faith, Hope and Charity can help us during stressful, sad or lonely moments.

This is important for you to know because, as Catholics, we can find strength in our beliefs.

We will begin with a reading.

A reading from the letter of Paul to the Romans (Romans 15:13)

May the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace as you trust in Him, so that you may overflow with hope by the power of the Holy Spirit.

"And Jesus said to him, "Go your way; your faith has made you well." And immediately he received his sight and followed him on the way." (Mark 10:52 )

Jesus reaches out to us in love through our family, teachers, priests and friends. Their love for us, and our love for each other, are a living sign that tells everyone: Jesus is alive! He lets us know that our Faith makes us well. He is with us every moment of the day! By living Jesus' Great Commandment to love, we can become everything God wants us to be.

Christian Meditation

We will now take a moment to practice peaceful Christian Meditation:

Jesus tells us, "Peace I leave with you; my peace I give to you. Do not let your hearts be troubled, and do not let them be afraid."

Sit with your back straight.

Close your eyes lightly.

Silently, in your heart, say the words:

"God is Love... God is Love... God is Love." (repeat for 30 seconds to 1 minute)

Say this phrase again and again, and welcome Christ's peace into your heart.

* * *

And let us pray,

Lord, we thank you for the gifts of Faith, Hope and Charity that you have poured into our hearts. May these gifts overflow in everything we do and with everyone we meet today. We ask you this

Class Discussion: On chart paper, Teacher records the students' characteristics of Physical, Emotional and Spiritual Strength under the three headings. Teacher elicits discussion on stereotypes that might be shared (e.g. crying is a sign of weakness, a smile is a sign of strength, girls are weak, boys are strong, withholding emotions is a sign of strength, etc.) The focus today will be on spiritual strength. Review the list that has been generated by the students under "What makes someone spiritually strong?"
Mind's On Discussion Points: The discussion on strength is meant to illicit stereotypes that exist about what it means to be "strong". Throughout this unit, students will explore stereotypes and how these form stigma towards those who struggle with mental health issues. Mental health issues affect everyone. Because of the stigma associated with mental illness, many people deny issues related to their mental well being. Negative stereotypes exist that showing emotions, speaking up and asking for help are signs of weakness. Some people are afraid to look weak. These beliefs mean that people who suffer do so in silence and do not seek the help needed. These barriers need to be broken down. Real strength exists in taking off the 'mask' and showing our true self. This means we share our emotions, and encourage others to do the same.

Mental Health & Wellness for Catholic Schools:
Emotions, Resiliency, Belonging, & Dignity of the Whole Person

Share that Catholics have three Theological Virtues which can provide both spiritual and mental/emotional strength when needed - Faith, Hope and Charity. Briefly explain the characteristics of each.

How can Faith, Hope and Charity help us when we are not feeling mentally strong? When we are feeling sad, lonely or stressed?

List a few responses under each virtue.

Consolidation (Nurture)

Approximately 30 Minutes

Sketchnote Reflections on the Theological Virtues:

How can the theological virtues provide strength?

Students create a sketchnote on the Faith, Hope, Charity graphic organizer. Students can sketch images, provide phrases or words associated with the virtue in and around the words. Colour in pencil crayons or markers.

Display completed work in the classroom as a reference for future lessons.

Extension Activity

Pictionary

Mental Health & Wellness for Catholic Schools: Emotions, Resiliency, Belonging, & Dignity of the Whole Person

Using the ideas from the sketchnotes students can break up into groups of 4. One student in the group of 4 will have paper and pen and be given 2 minutes to draw an idea from their sheet while the other 3 students guess. Once the 2 minutes are up, the next person in the group will have 2 minutes to draw an idea from their sheet and have everyone guess it.

Notes:

Grade: 6 Lesson 2
So, How Are You Really Doing?

Background:

Just like physical health, sometimes we experience pain and discomfort which makes it difficult to cope. Similar to physical illness, there are times when we are not well mentally. Not keeping things inside, but expressing one's emotions and finding ways forward is important to well-being. When emotions are left to fester, they build up and can cause damage to relationships. Hidden feelings can leave us "stuck" and unable to move forward.

An open and accepting classroom culture is one in which all feel safe to share their emotions. It is a culture which speaks to the reality that 'It's ok to not be ok.' This lesson examines why people sometimes wear "masks" to hide their true identities. Then, it addresses ways we can make others feel more comfortable in sharing their feelings so they can receive the support needed. The key to mental health is in speaking up in times of struggle. It is in being unashamed and true to who you are. We all struggle at times.

C2.1 express detailed personal responses to musical performances in a variety of ways

Oral Language:

2.2 demonstrate an increasingly sophisticated understanding of appropriate speaking behaviour in a variety of situations, including paired sharing, dialogue, and small- and large-group

Learning Goals:

- Students will learn how sharing emotions can empower us to be more resilient in moving forward past challenges and roadblocks
- Students will discuss reasons why others hide their emotions
- Students will examine the ways we can create a supportive classroom culture that accepts the differences in others and will lead all to feel safe to be themselves

We will begin with a reading.

In the name of the Father, Son and the Holy Spirit. Amen.

Reading (Wisdom 8:7)

A reading from the book of Wisdom.

And if anyone loves righteousness, her labours are virtues; for she teaches self-control and prudence, justice and courage; nothing in life is more beneficial for people than these.

Christian Meditation

We will now take a moment to practice peaceful, Christian meditation, beginning with a simple prayer:

Make me a person of prudence, my God: To seek good advice, to choose what is best, and do the right thing in love. I make this prayer in Jesus' name.

Sit with your back straight.

Close your eyes lightly.

Silently, in your heart, say the words: "The peace of Christ... The peace of Christ... The peace of Christ." (repeat for 30 seconds to 1 minute)

Say this phrase again and again, and welcome Christ's peace into your heart.

And let us pray,

Lord, we thank you for the gift of Christ's peace. May we joyfully carry and share it with everyone we meet this day. We ask you this through Christ our Lord.

Grade: 6 Lesson 3

Be Careful How You Talk to Yourself: You are Listening

Background:

The ‘voice in our head’ impacts our mental health, even though others cannot hear it. Sometimes it can motivate us, but other times it can be discouraging and harmful. To remain mentally healthy, it is important to pay attention to self-talk. Emotional awareness is integral to resilience. It is important to use positive self-talk, to remain hopeful, and to keep trying. It is also important to actively ask for help when needed.

Curriculum Expectations – Catholic Graduate Expectations, Overall and Specific Expectations from related Subjects

Catholic Graduate Expectations

CGE1d -develops attitudes and values founded on Catholic social teaching and acts to promote social responsibility, human solidarity and the common good;
CGE3a -recognizes there is more grace in our world than sin and that hope is essential in facing all challenges

Subject Specific Expectations

Writing

2.3 use some vivid and/or figurative language and innovative expressions to enhance interest (e.g., strong verbs; concrete, specific nouns; unusual adjectives; unexpected word order)

Learning Goals:

- Students will learn how our ‘internal voice’ impacts our mental health by either motivating us or holding us back
- Students will reflect upon a personal challenge and how their internal voice influenced them

Instructional Components

Prior Knowledge and/or Skills

- Students would benefit from a prior understanding of growth and fixed mindset

Terminology

Fixed Mindset - a belief that one’s abilities, talents and intelligence are fixed and cannot be changed

- An understanding of the gift of failure and how making mistakes impacts the learning process and personal growth

Growth Mindset- A belief that intelligence, ability and talent can be improved with hard work and persistence

Inner voice - is the voice in your mind that talks to you about you and the things you experience. This happens without us ever realizing it. These thoughts are often ones we would never say out loud. Inner voice can affect confidence, self-esteem, stress levels and attitude.

Faith Focus (Prayer/Scripture/Christian Meditation)

Today's lesson focuses on how we need to listen to our inner voice. It is the voice inside our head that no one else can hear.

This is important for you to know because our inner voice can motivate us, but sometimes it can also hold us back from doing things.

We will begin with a reading.

In the name of the Father, Son and the Holy Spirit. Amen.

Reading (James 5: 7-12)

A reading from the Letter of James

Be patient, therefore, beloved, until the coming of the Lord. The farmer waits for the precious crop from the earth, being patient with it until it receives the early and the late rains. You also must be patient. Strengthen your hearts, for the coming of the Lord is near. Beloved, do not grumble against one another, so that you may not be judged. See, the Judge is standing at the doors! As an example of suffering and patience, beloved, take the prophets who spoke in the name of the Lord. Indeed we call blessed those who showed endurance. You have heard of the endurance of Job, and you have seen the purpose of the Lord, how the Lord is compassionate and merciful.

Christian Meditation

We will now take a moment to practice peaceful, Christian Meditation:

Sit with your back straight.

Close your eyes lightly.

Silently, in your heart, say the words:

"God of Mercy... God of Mercy... God of Mercy" (repeat for 30 seconds to 1 minute)

Similar to the example shown, students will write affirmative messages about themselves using the examples found on the Positive Affirmations sheets provided or their own ideas. In pencil, students write positive messages along the imprints on the page. When done, they can trace over the wording in marker and then colour over in pencil crayon.

Notes:

Grade: 6 Lesson 4
A Heart to Love and Hands to Serve

Background:

Research suggests that helping others may in fact benefit the giver more than the receiver. Providing support to others is good for our own mental health. It can enhance feelings of belonging, lower stress levels, develop positive relationships, and create powerful memories.

There are times in all of our lives in which we will be both the giver and receiver of support. The focus of this lesson is on homelessness as examined through the picture book Sally by Chris Nihmey. Many themes emerge in this book, including: stigma and stereotypes related to mental illness, the importance of human dignity, and the power of relationships in fostering Hope and Faith. A key message is that we cannot judge others, as “That person on the street is someone’s son or daughter...they were in kindergarten just like you.” We all have human dignity as we are created in God’s likeness.

While the main female character in the story has a mental illness, it is important to preface this lesson to indicate that mental illness can be treated. People who struggle can live happy and productive lives with the right supports.

Faith Focus (Prayer/Scripture/Christian Meditation)

Reading

Today's lesson focuses on how Charity, and service of others, can be positive towards our own mental health. We are called to bring our Faith and Hope to others.

This is important for you to know because bringing joy, hope and happiness to others also helps us feel good about ourselves.

We will begin with a reading.

In the name of the Father, Son and the Holy Spirit. Amen.

A reading from the Prophet Micah, (Micah 6: 8)

He has told you, O mortal, what is good; and what does the Lord require of you but to do justice, and to love kindness, and to walk humbly with your God?

Christian Meditation

We will now take a moment to practice peaceful, Christian Meditation, beginning with a simple prayer:

Make me a person of justice, my God:
To worship You alone,
And show mercy and fairness to my neighbour.
I make this prayer in Jesus' name. Amen.

Close your eyes lightly.

Sit with your back straight.

Silently, in your heart, say the words:

"My God, my all... My God, my all... My God, my all." (repeat for 30 seconds to 1 minute) Say this phrase again and again, and welcome Christ's peace into your heart.

Place a recycling bin at the front of the classroom. Give each student a piece of scrap paper. Instruct students that they must stand where they are at their desk and throw the paper into the bin at the front of the classroom.

Ask “Is it fair? How does this activity relate to inequity? What could we do to make this activity be more equitable, without changing the rules?”

Link their project to this activity by asking, “How will our class project be similar to the activity we just did?”

Notes:

Grade: 6 Lesson 5
Culminating Activity: Attitude of Gratitude

Background:

Gratitude is key to emotional health. When we reflect upon the positives in our lives, studies suggest that both our physical and mental well-being are improved. Sometimes it is easy to forget the gifts in our lives when we hit a rough patch. Gratitude allows us to focus on what is good in our life and pay attention to the things that we might otherwise take for granted. Choosing to think about these things can improve our mood, increase our feelings of self-worth, and strengthen other positive emotions, including happiness and love. This is the culminating lesson and looks back to God's gifts of Faith, Hope and Charity.

Curriculum Expectations – Catholic Graduate Expectations, Overall and Specific Expectations from related Subjects

Catholic Graduate Expectations

CGE4g -examines and reflects on one's personal values, abilities and aspirations influencing life's choices and opportunities;
CGE1e -speaks the language of life... "recognizing that life is an unearned gift and that a person entrusted with life does not own it but that one is called to protect and cherish it."

Subject Overall Expectations

Visual Arts

D1. Creating and Presenting: apply the creative process (see pages 19–22) to produce a variety of two- and three-dimensional art works, using elements, principles, and techniques of visual arts to communicate feelings, ideas, and understandings

Subject Specific Expectations

Visual Arts

D1.2 demonstrate an understanding of composition, using selected principles of design to create narrative art works or art works on a theme or topic

Learning Goals:

- Students will learn about the role gratitude has on enhancing mental health
- Students will reflect upon the gifts God has provided in their own lives

Students will create a prayer on gratitude as a keepsake to be a reminder and source of information during times of struggle

Faith Focus (Prayer/Scripture/Christian Meditation)

Reading

Today's lesson focuses on how gratitude can be good for our mental well-being.

This is important for you to know because sometimes we can take for granted the blessings in our lives. We all have received tremendous gifts from God. With gratitude, doors will open.

We will begin with a reading.

In the name of the Father, Son and the Holy Spirit.

A reading from Matthew 7:7-8

Ask and it will be given to you; search, and you will find; knock, and the door will be opened for you. For everyone who asks, receives, and everyone who searches, finds, and for everyone who knocks, the door will be opened.

Christian Meditation

We will now take a moment to practice peaceful, Christian Meditation, beginning with a simple prayer:

Lord God,

Make me a person who asks for You, my God:

To continually in all things be seeking for You
And to knock on the door so that it may be opened.
I make this prayer in Jesus' name. Amen.

Close your eyes lightly.

Sit with your back straight.

Silently, in your heart, say the words:

"Knock and the door will be opened... knock and the door will be opened... knock and the door will be opened."
(repeat for 30 seconds to 1 minute)

* * *

Mental Health & Wellness for Catholic Schools:

And let us pray,
Lord, we thank you for the gift of Your promise to us.

May we carry it in our hearts wherever we go.

Let us pray the promise You gave us.
May it free us from all worries, and keep us joyful in all things.

We ask you this through Christ our Lord.

Amen

Minds On (Envision)

Monitoring Progress (Discern)
Look Fors:

What might it look like?
What might it sound like?
What might it feel like?

Unit Review:

Teacher leads discussion and review of unit. Brainstorm what student's have learned about Mental Health in this unit. Discuss what the most significant aspect of the unit has been for them individually. What made them think? What would they like to know more about?

Tell the students there is one key to Mental Health yet to be discussed. Research suggests that it is important for a lifetime of happiness and fulfillment. Can they guess what that might be?

Without giving any clear response, play the video HD Gratitude - Moving Art.

Teacher asks students what they noticed in the video. What were the most meaningful messages? Tell the students that research suggest gratitude is beneficial to both mental and physical health.

Ask them: What is gratitude?

Can you think of a time when you felt grateful? Turn and talk to a partner.

Why do you think gratitude is so beneficial to health?

Discussion Points:

Gratitude is important to mental health because:

- It allows us to focus on what is good in our life
- We pay attention to the things we might otherwise take for granted
- Choosing to think about these things can improve mood, feelings of self-worth and links to other positive emotions such as love and happiness

Grade: 8 Lesson 1
Emotions

Background: Students should understand that it is normal to experience emotions; however, changes in frequency, duration, or intensity of emotions are possible indicators of mental health issues.

Curriculum Expectations – Catholic Graduate Expectations, Overall and Specific Expectations from related Subjects

Catholic Graduate Expectations

CGE1f – seeks intimacy with God and celebrates communion with God, others and creation through prayer and worship

CGE4a – demonstrates a confident and positive sense of self and respect for the dignity and welfare of others

CGE6a – relates to family members in a loving, compassionate, and respectful manner

Health Overall Expectations

C1: Demonstrate an understanding of factors that contribute to healthy development

C3: Demonstrate the ability to make connections that relate to health and well-being - how their choices and behaviours affect both themselves and others, and how factors in the world around them affect their own and others' health and well-being

Language Specific Expectations

Writing 2.3: regularly use vivid and/or figurative language and innovative expressions in their writing

Reading 1.5: develop and explain interpretations of increasingly complex or difficult texts using stated and implied ideas from the texts to support their interpretations

Drama Specific Expectations

B1.4 communicate feelings, thoughts, and abstract ideas through drama works

Learning Goals:

Students will learn to understand about the role of emotions so that they develop an awareness of when to seek help and also how to recognize emotions in the people around them.

Mental Health & Wellness for Catholic Schools:
Emotions, Resiliency, Belonging, & Dignity of the Whole Person

Canadian Teacher magazine, Spring 2018 issue, suggests the following in noticing and speaking back to negative thoughts:

1. Is this thought really true?
2. Am I overemphasizing a negative aspect of this situation?
3. What is the worst thing that is likely to happen?
4. Am I certain that the situation will turn out that way?
5. Is there another way to look at this situation?
6. What difference will this make next week, month, or year?
7. Am I catastrophizing or jumping to conclusions, assuming a negative outcome?
8. Is there anything positive about this situation?
9. Am I using words like never, always, worst, or terrible to describe this situation?

A further extension might be to challenge students to think about the cause and effect relationships of emotions:

If _____, then _____

Cognitive Distortions Activity

Cognitive distortions are untrue thoughts that people tell themselves. These thoughts often overemphasize the negative and certainly impact emotions. Asking questions of ourselves can help us change how we feel about a situation and our mood in general.

Pick 6 out of the 9 questions (above) and write them on the board with numbers beside them. Put students into small groups and give each group a die and one scenario from the Grade 8 Scenarios BLM. Students roll the die and answer the question number that matches it, regarding the scenario their group was given. After 3 minutes, switch up scenarios so that groups can grapple with thinking through several distorted thoughts.

Consolidation (Nurture)

Approximately 30 Minutes

One emotion people often struggle with is anger. Hand out balloons to your class (some students may not like balloons or may be sensitive to latex or other materials) or use a balloon to model the following:

Think of a time when you were very angry. Fill the balloon with air to represent your anger. The balloon might fill up so quickly that it bursts or it might fill up slowly but get very big. Sometimes anger happens quickly and sometimes it builds over time.

- Should be quiet to allow time to reflect and think.
- Talking to a friend about the problem, asking a trusted adult for advice on dealing with anger, counting to 10, breathing deeply, going for a walk, etc. would all be ways to deflate a problem.
- If a student suggests forgiveness, let out a lot of air or all of the remaining air. Jesus teaches us to forgive

Mental Health & Wellness for Catholic Schools:
Emotions, Resiliency, Belonging, & Dignity of the Whole Person

Encourage students to think of something that could help manage or release some of the anger. Each time they think of something release a little air from the balloon. At some point the balloon will deflate and the emotion will be released. It might zip away quickly or slowly float away.	those who have sinned against us.

Grade 8 Scenarios

How Can We Change Our Thinking?

You notice 2 people at the end of the hall laughing to each other. When you walk up to them they stop laughing and turn away from you.

Automatic thought: “They are laughing at me”.

As you are walking down the hall, someone rushes past you and elbows you. You say “ow” in pain, but the other person keeps walking.

Automatic thought: “He hit me on purpose. I’m going to get him back.”

A friend tells you that another friend said something unkind about you.

Automatic thought: “Nobody likes me.”

You over hear 2 people talking about your friend saying that they didn’t like her singing voice.

Automatic thought: “This is terrible. I have to tell her right now so that she can confront them. They aren’t true friends.”

You get 2 tests back. One you did very well on, but the other you got a bad mark on. You see the mark and immediately hide that test in your desk, embarrassed.

Automatic thought: “I am so stupid. I can never get anything right.”

You have a great day at a basketball tournament. At the end of the day you trip over your feet on the way out and fall flat on your face.

Automatic thought: “I am such an idiot. Everyone saw me fall and I am not going to be able to ever show my face again. Now my whole day is ruined.”

You are doing work and realize that the teacher gave you some questions that she didn’t explain. You struggle through the questions but just can’t seem to get them right.

Automatic thought: “I give up! I can’t do this. I’m going to crumple up my paper.”

Grade: 8 Lesson 2
Resiliency

Background: We all have physical health and do things to look after it. We all have mental health. Many mental health experts feel it is essential to develop and grow resiliency.

Curriculum Expectations – Catholic Graduate Expectations, Overall and Specific Expectations from related Subjects

Catholic Graduate Expectations

CGE3d - makes decisions in light of gospel values with an informed moral conscience

CGE4a - demonstrates a confident and positive sense of self and respect for the dignity and welfare of others

CGE2c - presents information and ideas clearly and honestly and with sensitivity to others

CGE3c - thinks reflectively and creatively to evaluate situations and solve problems;

CGE4d - responds to, manages, and constructively influences change in a discerning manner

Religion Fundamental Concept

PR2 The Way of Prayer: Forms and Expressions of Prayer

Health Overall Expectations

C3: Demonstrate the ability to make connections that relate to health and well-being – how their choices and behaviours affect both themselves and others, and how factors in the world around them affect their own and others’ health and well-being

Music Specific Expectation

C2.1: Express analytical, personal responses to musical performances in a variety of ways

Learning Goals:

Students will learn that things will get better; they are stronger than they think.

Students will learn to develop coping strategies so that they can work through most problems instead of around the problems.

Christian contemplation/meditation is an important resource to add to one’s personal mental health and wellness toolkit because we are all very busy doing things. Christian contemplation/meditation allows us to take time to just be.

Mental Health & Wellness for Catholic Schools: Emotions, Resiliency, Belonging, & Dignity of the Whole Person

Explain to your class that they are going to be participating in Christian meditation (adapted from Christian Meditation with Children - see information under the additional resources section for this lesson). Prior to the meditation have class sit still and upright with straight backs and feet flat on the floor. Students could be gathered on chairs in a circle or remain at their desks.

At the start of the session, as students are preparing themselves, have music playing (perhaps one of the hymns mentioned above). Follow this with the sign of the cross and then a prayer asking God to fill us with joy and His love. You might use an opening prayer such as:

“Loving God, we open ourselves to the joy You bring us. You created us for joy-filled lives. Fill us with the kind of joy that must be shared”.

Allow a few moments for participants to close their eyes and focus on their breathing, allowing their bodies and minds to relax.

Tell students that you will say a sentence from Psalms 46.10 and they will repeat it back to you. A quiet bell or gentle chime may be used to prompt them. Wait 30 seconds or so between statements.

Be still and know that I am God.

Be still and know that I am.

Be still and know that.

Be still and know.

Be still.

Be.

End with a closing prayer such as “Glory Be”.

After the Christian meditation, ask students to reflect on how they feel, both physically and mentally. Remind them that their personal relationship with God is with them 24/7. They are never alone.

➤ You should hear gentle breathing, quiet

➤ You may see some students peeking or squirming. Give them time to become comfortable. Don't rush prayer.

➤ Students may reply: calm, quiet, focused, relaxed, etc.

You will need a number of squares cut from white paper (approximate dimensions 15cm x 15cm). These will be the “snowballs” for this activity. Each student will get one piece of paper to write something they consider unique about themselves. No names should be put on the papers. Students will then gather in a circle in an open space, crumple up the paper, and toss it like a snowball into the center of the circle. Students should pick up a ‘snowball’, read silently, then crumple that paper up and toss it back before selecting another one. This is a quick way to “hear” many voices and allows students who may be more introverted to share about themselves.		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• It should be fairly quiet while activity is happening</li> </ul>

Teach the class Pope Francis' Five Finger Prayer: Start with your thumb. The thumb is the closest finger to you, so start praying for those who are closest to you. They are the easiest to remember. To pray for our dear ones is a "sweet obligation". The next finger is the index. Pray for those who teach you, instruct you, and heal you. They need the support and wisdom to show direction to others. Always keep them in your prayers. The following finger is the tallest. It reminds us of our leaders and those who have authority. They need God's guidance. The fourth finger is the ring finger. It is our weakest finger and so should remind you to pray for the weakest, the sick, or those plagued by problems. They need your prayers. Finally, we have our smallest finger, the pinkie. It should remind you to pray for yourself. When you are done praying for the other four groups you will be able to see your own needs, but in the proper perspective. Perhaps students could trace their hand on the inside cover of one of their notebooks to remind themselves of this prayer from our Holy Father, Pope Francis.	➤ You might wish to have students share aloud the various groups of people they are praying for	What might it look like? What might it sound like? What might it feel like?

Pope Francis' Five Finger Prayer

Action (Sow)

Approximately 15 Minutes

1. Think about the following two terms:

Self esteem - How you feel about yourself

Self concept - How you think others feel about you

Are your feelings for both terms similar? If so, why? If not, why not? Ask students to reflect privately about this, then follow up with the term:

Self-acceptance - Believing oneself to be uniquely and lovingly made in the image and likeness of God.

Link this term back to the opening quote of this lesson from St. Catherine of Siena.

2. Have students think of areas in their life that fit each of the following categories:

Roses (things that are great and easy)

Buds (things that are growing and changing, but not easy or great yet)

Thorns (things that are difficult for them)

Use the GR8 The Gardener's Gift BLM as a reflection tool.

Ask student to silently think of a person they know. What do they think are some of the roses, buds, and thorns for that person?

Grade: 8 Lesson 5

Culminating Activity: Action Challenges

Background: At World Youth Day 2013 Pope Francis told us, “Young people must say to the world: to follow Christ is good; to go with Christ is good; the message of Christ is good”.

Curriculum Expectations – Catholic Graduate Expectations, Overall and Specific Expectations from related Subjects

Catholic Graduate Expectations

CGE4a – demonstrates a confident and positive sense of self and respect for the dignity and welfare of others

CGE7e – witnesses Catholic social teaching by promoting equality, democracy, and solidarity for a just, peaceful, and compassionate society

CGE4d - responds to, manages, and constructively influences change in a discerning manner

Family Life Specific Expectations

E2.2 Recognize and appreciate that justice is the virtue that helps us respond to the rights and dignity of each person

Health Overall Expectations

C2 Demonstrate the ability to apply health knowledge and living skills to make reasoned decisions and take appropriate actions relating to their personal health and well-being

C3 Demonstrate the ability to make connections that relate to health and well-being – how their choices and behaviours affect both themselves and others, and how factors in the world around them affect their own and others’ health and well-being

Learning Goals:

Students will learn that Jesus is the model for our actions, interactions, and reactions with others so that everyone feels a sense of belonging and feels cared for and loved.

1. As a class watch The Moon Walking Bear video on YouTube: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Ahg6qcgoay4 It is important to be able to focus on the present and block out busyness. To practice this, in small groups or with shoulder partners, try providing a sports-like running commentary for an everyday action conducted by a classmate. Take time to notice and name details. See the example at the right. This activity is not only great for being present in the moment but also for team building and belonging as lots of laughter will happen. 2. Remind students about the consolidation activity in Lesson 3: Belonging, about who they are, their roles, in their various relationships. As a class design and construct a display board or bulletin board of all the relationships they have with others. It could be titled “We are...” or “Relationships”.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• This is Jessie, watching student James, who is picking up his blue pencil in Mrs. Green’s math class so he can write the number 4. To further build a sense of belonging among students, remind students that relationships require verbs. That is, they require action. The following are some suggestions of projects that could be done whole class, in small groups, or individually.
